as District Attorney.

Governor-elect Whitman has not yet announced the name of the man who will succeed him as District Attorney, and friends of Assistant District Attorney Arthur C. Train are becoming more hopeful that his merits and work will be rewarded by his appreciations. be rewarded by his appointment to the post.

Mr. Train has served under three District Attorneys, having first been appointed by Eugene A. Philbin. He was reappointed by William Travers Jerome and thereafter by Mr. Whitman. In the meantime he was a Special Attorney-General and investigated the Queens graft cases, which resulted in more than 100 indictments. 100 indictments.

During his official career Mr. Train has successfully prosecuted some of the most intricate criminal cases. His latest achievement was the successful prosecu-tion of Henry Siegel at Geneseo. This was considered one of the most intricate commercial cases that have been handled commercial cases that have been handled in the District Attorney's office in many agars. It took Mr. Train almost a year to get the case in shape for trial.

Mr. Train is a son of Charles Russell Mr. Train, who for eight years was Attorney. General of Massachusetts. While in private practice Mr. Train went abroad and studied the workings of the criminal courts of foreign countries. He spent considerable time in Italy and attended the Camorra trials. He later wrote a book on his observations, calling it "Courts, Criminals and the Camorra." He is also the author of "The Prisoner at the courts, Criminals and the Camorra." He is also the author of "The Prisoner at the Bar," a review of criminal trials and a description of the American jury system. Quotations from this book were used frequently by Prof. Wigmore in his work on evidence. Mr. Train is also a short story writer.

As an Assistant District Attorney he has prosecuted more than fifty murder cases and was for some years in charge of the presecution of commercial frauds.
